

THAW PHYSICIANS WILL SAY: INSANITY

Noted Pittsburg Alienists to Be Called by the Defense.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26.—Alienists have been retained on the Thaw case and are awaiting the word to go to New York to testify that the young Pittsburg man was and has been for some time subject to fits of temporary insanity.

Dr. Charles C. Wiley, one of the best known of the local alienists, has been consulted in the case and his testimony is considered of sufficient importance by the defense in the great murder trial as to be capable of showing conclusively the mental condition of young Thaw under certain circumstances. Dr. Wiley does not deny the report that he will be called to New York within a short time to testify for the defense. Neither would he confirm the report.

Dr. C. F. Bingham, of Shadyside, will likely be a witness for Thaw. He has been the family physician of the Thaws for many years. He attended Harry through many of his childhood illnesses, and knew him as a young man.

BETTING THAT THAW WILL GO TO CHAIR

Optimistic Gamblers Find Many Takers Who Expect Conviction.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26.—Betting in the clubs, saloons, cafes, and about town on the result of the Thaw trial is becoming lively, and the manner in which some of the persons here who are known as "wise" and professional gamblers are putting up their money is mystifying, especially when it is considered that the jury has not yet been selected.

Even money is being offered in all amounts that Harry Thaw will not be convicted, thus giving the benefit in case of a disagreement to those who are forcing the betting. Although there is nothing laughable on which to base an opinion, the conviction end looks good to a large number of people. However, the manner in which money on the Thaw trial is being put out, and the confident air of the betters have deterred many persons who otherwise would risk their money on the result.

Those that are trying to place their money like to stand that the chances are greatly in favor of Thaw being acquitted on the "insanity" law, placing the odds at 10 to 1 in his favor. It is believed that there is a good chance for a disagreement, as many jurors would not wish to convict a man under the circumstances, and that with married men in the majority Thaw's chances are greatly increased.

POPE IN FAINT WORRIES VATICAN

ROME, Jan. 26.—It developed today that following the audience which His Holiness granted to Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American College yesterday, at which the latter presented the Pope with Peter's Pence sent from America, to the amount of $6,000, the Pontiff was stricken with a severe fainting spell which made it necessary for him to have medical attendance.

The condition of his health is causing considerable worry at the Vatican, but he declines to see a physician unless it becomes absolutely necessary.

The French clerical troubles have greatly preyed upon his mind, with the result that he refuses to eat at times and in fact, he confessed to his physician lately that he eats but one meal a day.

When the doctor remonstrated with him he replied haughtily:

"I assure you even if I ate once a week, in every way I would be and feel as energetic as a leader as the Roman Catholic Church requires."

The Pope has given Monsignor Kennedy's sister a magnificent cameo as a memento of her audience with him.

In speaking of the outlook for 1907, a member of the firm recently said: "Our experience with trade conditions at the present time is that sales of 1907 will be far in excess of anything we have experienced in this territory. A great many orders have been booked ahead for spring delivery, and it is important that customers desiring any of these popular types of cars should place their order at an early date."

SOME REMARKABLE PORTRAITS OF THE MILLIONAIRE SLAYER

FROM PHILADELPHIA RECORD.
Shows the Millionaire as a Criminal Type.

Thaw Prolific Pencil Subject In Courtroom

One Artist Sees Him
Criminal, Another a Weakling, a Third as Degenerate.

Here are three remarkable portraits of Harry Thaw, all drawn by artists who made a study of the subject at first hand as they saw him in court on trial for his life.

Alienists watch him hour by hour, noting his every move and expression and mannerism, as evidence whether he is sane or insane.

Psychologists are subjecting the present and the past of this man to their most searching analysis, for the purpose of ascertaining whether he is normal or abnormal.

Phrenologists have peered for the opportunity to finger his "humps" in order to determine whether their generalizations will apply to his case.

Artists, who, after all, represent a good deal of the alienist, the psychologist, the phrenologist, the moralist—artists have been drawing his picture in every conceivable pose and phase.

The deep-lined, dark, heavy featured drawing is by the artist of the Philadelphia Record.

Suggests the Criminal.

It suggests the criminal more strongly than most of the portraits that have been made; yet it does this only by emphasis of characteristics less strikingly developed in other studies.

The full, round faced, boyish view is by Stein, of the New York World. Certainly it would take more than a casual glance to find in this drawing suggestion of the possibilities of cruelty, vice, and finally depravity, that are attributed to Thaw. The weakness, indeed, and self-indulgence which are at bottom of his character are there.

Homer Davenport's is the lower picture—the study in phrenology. One wishes that he might see that strangely shaped head shaven, and note still more closely its abnormalities. In this profile, too, appears the weakness and colorlessness that the Stein picture so strongly brings out.

Bad Shaped Head.

Of his drawing, Davenport says in the New York Mail:

"I have never seen a person just like Harry Thaw."

"I have seen several people charged with a similar crime, but none like Thaw. There is a blankness in his face, coupled with a bad shaped head, which forms a dangerous combination."

Theodore Durant, a degenerate of San Francisco, killed girls and hid them in a den, where the bell as he tolled him to accept their nude bodies. Looking at Durant, with his hair as long as a football player's, aside from a small pinched ear and peculiar brow, you saw no traces of the monster he was shown to be. But when his hair was cut, an operation which he fought to prevent, all was revealed.

"Holmes, the Philadelphia murderer, who killed men, women, and children for insurance policies, showed his criminal instincts in his weak face and childlike back head. His murders were accomplished by locking people in rooms and starving them to death."

"Harry Thaw is different from either of these men. His attorneys may be able to show that his motive for killing White was perfectly justifiable. I would, however, just like to see the shape of his back head under his loose hair."

"His head, even with long hair, is curiously shaped. It is very high at the peak of the crown, where there is a 'cockle' that makes it hard to brush down."

"His head drops rapidly to the top of the forehead, where the hair is plastered to his short, blunt brow. The top of the head is an angle."

REPORTING IN ENGLAND.

"Witness was in the house at about 2 o'clock on the previous afternoon, and he saw Priestly through the window. He rang the bell and the maid answered the door, but declined to open it, and told him to go to a warm place. He had been there about four times previously, but had not seen Priestly."

JUDGE DE LACEY ON CHILD LABOR

Delivers an Address Before the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Judge De Lacey, of the Juvenile Court of the District, made an address last night in the study room of the Public Library before the Federation of Women's Clubs. Probable legislation at this session of Congress on the child-labor law formed the theme of Judge De Lacey's remarks. He spoke of the absolute necessity for such legislation, and pointed out the advantage of its enactment. He said there are 3,000 children of fourteen years and younger who are now employed in the District of Columbia, and expressed his indorsement of the Doolittle bill.

Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Main, president of the organization, presided at last night's meeting. The committee on literature made its report through Mrs. Martha L. Schneider.

Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey was unable to be present, but sent her report on the child-labor bill, which was read by Mrs. McCullough.

Reports were read from the education, printing, and legislation committees. A resolution to thank the members of the House of Representatives for passing the bill permitting the wives of soldiers to be buried beside their husbands in Arlington National Cemetery was passed, and in the resolution the federation expressed the hope that the Senate would also pass the measure. The organization is planning for an evening reception some time in February, and although no date for the event has been set, preparations will be rapidly made.

POWER FROM VICTORIA FALLS.

Engineers have never doubted the possibility of transmitting power from the Victoria falls of the Zambesi river to the great gold fields of the Transvaal, 750 miles distant, but they have questioned the economic soundness of such an undertaking on a commercial scale. Nevertheless, contracts have been let which show that the work will be undertaken. It is the most extraordinary electric power scheme ever attempted.

In Labor's Realm

John H. Brinkman, the newly elected President of the Central Labor Union of this city, has again been honored by the election to the office of secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Carriage and Wagon Workers of North America.

The headquarters of the International Union will be located in Washington, and this fact will be a material factor in the local strike of the carriage makers.

Mr. Brinkman is a carriage wood-worker, and has been an active member ever since the formation of the local Carriage Workers' Union, of which he is also president. Mr. Brinkman holds at present numerous offices in the labor movement, including the presidency of the Central Labor Union of Washington, chairman of the strike committee of the carriage workers, chairman of the Hearst reception committee, and is an organizer of the American Federation of Labor.

By virtue of his office he will be a member of the international board.

Mr. Brinkman will leave Washington Tuesday morning for Chicago to take over the international office and transfer it to this city.

Henry C. Stein, vice president of District No. 1, will be in charge of strike headquarters in Mr. Brinkman's absence.

Mrs. Stein, wife of Henry Stein, secretary to John H. Brinkman, president of Central Labor Union, who was reported to be seriously ill last week, is improving and is thought to be out of danger.

With the exception of the Carriage and Wagon Workers' strike and the book and job printers' strike, both of which have been on for a number of months, and the plumbers' troubles, which are in the hands of arbitrators, all the other unions in Washington are working without friction, full time, and everybody is happy. It is true that there are some few little differences between employers and employees in some quarters, but they are so insignificant as to be of no importance.

The Carriage and Wagon Workers have presented their colleague, John H. Brinkman, president of Central Labor Union, with a handsome engraved gavel.

The Horseshoers' local union reports that every shop in the city except five is in its union.

Early in February the United Garment Workers of America will open a branch clothing house in this city in the Trades Union building, at F street northwest, for the sale of union-made clothing bearing the label of the United Garment Workers of America.

Financial Secretary McCluer, of Central Labor Union, is confined to his home by illness.

Representatives of the two local barbers' unions have held a conference with the boss barbers as to an adjustment of hours and wages.

Employees of the local navy yard, as well as representative union labor leaders in this city are deeply interested in the proposition to add a large new foundry in the Washington navy yard at a cost of $425,000, as proposed in the estimate of the Secretary of the Navy. Central Labor Union will take steps to represent to the House Committee on Naval Affairs its approval of the proposed appropriation and as the Central Union body, representing over 20,000 union men in the District of Columbia, do everything in its power by legitimate influence to secure the passage of the necessary legislation for the appropriation.

Titus F. Ellis, a former popular and efficient proofreader and printer in the Government Printing Office, member of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, Masons, and Eagles and an active member of Columbia Union, No. 10, International Typographical Union, has been appointed by the Washington, Alexandria and Annapolis railway, owner of Luna Park, permanent excursion agent for the park. Mr. Ellis filled the same position a portion of last year, and his work was so satisfactory that he was reappointed. He says that many improvements and new attractions will be added to the park for next season, and that the new management of the park will follow the fixed policy of the old management to recognize nothing but that which bears the indorsement of union labor.

President Parsons, of Columbia Union, No. 10, International Typographical Union, has returned from Richmond, Va., where he went as an organizer of his organization.

Hon. George W. Fairchild, member-elect to the sixtieth Congress from the Twenty-fourth New York district, is a printer and a member of the International Typographical Union, and a newspaper man of ability. He will prove an ardent advocate of labor's cause in the House.

The Trades Unionist, the official organ of the Central Labor Union and American Federation of Labor, is moving its plant to its new building at 67 F street northwest.

In the circle of the great army of members of "the art preservative" in the District, the principal topic of discussion and speculation was what happened at the banquet of the Knocks' Club last night. Its promoters claimed it was an occasion of great moment. The one hundred fortunate men who secured tickets of admission were much envied. John Sharp Williams and Champ Clark were among the invited guests.

Organized labor in Washington, as well as all over the country, is watching with deep interest the proposed legislation fathered by Senator Beveridge for the regulation of child labor. It is a subject that finds a deep interest and strong support in the hearts of every union man, and is long delayed legislation for which union labor has contended before State and National legislatures.

Employees of the navy yard have been asked to express by vote whether they would rather be paid weekly or every two weeks. Under the present system the men are paid semi-monthly, but a petition to pay every week has been filed by some of the men.

The next lecture in the Georgian Lecture and Entertainment course of the Central Labor Union at Carroll Institute, will be on February 5, it being the sixth and last of the series, subject: "How to Be Happy."

PURE DRUGS ACT June 30, 1906 In Effect January 1, 1907 A GOOD LAW

We endorse the Pure Drug Law, because we have always believed in its principles, and because it means that the American people will find the strong arm of the Government protecting them from RANK FAKES, IMITATIONS AND SUBSTITUTES made of adulterated, impure, worthless and even dangerous drugs.

This sort of thing has been an imposition, fraud and crime against the People, as well as against the responsible manufacturers of honest, reliable remedies, and it was high time for it to be stopped. Misrepresentation and substitution of "something just as good" will now be done away with.

The principles of the Food and Drugs Act have been always favored by conscientious and honorable manufacturers, who recognized that Purity and Quality alone could permanently secure the favor of the nation.

So the makers of Cascarets Candy Cathartic recognized the great principles of PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT when the first tablet was made, over eleven years ago, and have adhered to them ever since.

Cascarets stand alone on their record, of having gained in that short period of time the friendship, confidence and patronage of millions of people, who are now buying Cascarets at the rate of over a MILLION BOXES A MONTH,—the largest sale of any Bowel Medicine in all the world.

We endorse the Pure Drug Law. It suits us, because we have always stood before our friends unafraid and clear of conscience, made our contracts good to every one, and in the conduct of our business, had the good fortune to help hundreds of thousands of our fellow-citizens back to health and life.

We have no reason to hesitate, and so we do not hesitate, to recommend Cascarets to all sufferers from Constipation and all complications arising therefrom. Also any other diseases of the food-canal. We are advertised by our loving friends and whenever the American people pass judgment in favor of an article after over ten years of investigation, trial and test,—their verdict speaks for itself.

The greatest merit of Cascarets however, is that of being a positive and reliable preventive of disease. The most important function of the human body is to keep its digestive channels and passages, with over thirty-six feet of bowels, strictly clean and disinfected, so that natural operations can take place in a natural manner, and the growth and activity of disease germs can be prevented.

A Cascaret at night before "turning in" will keep your Bowels regular, and your whole digestive canal wholesome, pure and normally active. No matter what you have been taking, buy a little 10c. box TODAY at your own druggist, and let the results tell their own story. It means a lot of health and comfort in store for you.
